

Uses of target attributes in anchor tags

The `target` attribute specifies where the linked document will open when the link is clicked. The default is the current window. If `target="_blank"`, the linked document will open in a new tab or (on older browsers) a new window.